

Objectives

Schizophrenia (SCZ) is a poorly characterized disorder. Using a network-based technique, we hoped to:

- Further explore the syndromicity of schizophrenia using a topological approach
- Reproduce well-known signaling proteins and proteins related to SCZ
- Link together previously disparate